MISCELLANEOUS.

Mail is now carried between New York and San Francisco in 113 hours.

Pope Leo last Sunday entered upon his 80th year. He is extremely feeble in health.

A lady refers to the time she spends in front of her looking-glass as "moments of reflection."—Merchant Traveler.

A small piece of Limburger cheese carried about one's person will drive away the disagreeable odor of tobacco smoke, so offensive to delicate nostrils.—Time.

Song of our Ministers and Congress in Europe: "Home again, home again, from a foreign shore, and oh, it makes us awful mad, this twenty-four years more!"—N. Y. Graphic.

"I wish you would help me a little," said the tramp; "I haven't eaten anything for two days." "H'm!" returned old Grindler; "I'm opposed to giving money promiscuously on the street, but if you take this string and tie it around you tightly you won't feel so empty."—Puck.

The Biblical names in the new administration are extended as follows:

Benjamin, President.
Levi, Vice President.
Elijah, Private Secretary.
Benjamin, Secretary of the Navy.
Jeremiah, Secretary of Agriculture.
James, Secretary of State.
(Noble, Secretary of Interior.)
John (Wanamaker, Postmaster General.—Utica Herald.

An Englishman named St. John has been traveling in the West. He got so tired explaining to every one that his name was pronounced "St. John," says the New York Tribune, that he finally hired a man to do it for him, and at last accounts the man had got into six fights with groveling hotel clerks, who tried to persuade him that he didn't know how to pronounce his employers name.

Gen. Sherman was once a patient of Dr. Bliss, who died recently in Washington. The doctor had been treating him for some time for a slight but troublesome disorder, and had given him several different kinds of medicine, when one day in making his regular call, the general said to him: "Doctor, I don't seem to be getting any better for all your medicine." "Well, general," replied the doctor jocosely, "perhaps you had better take Shakespeare's advice and throw physic to the dogs." "I would, doctor," replied the sick man, as he turned his head on the pillow, "I would, but there are a number of valuable dogs in the neighborhood and I don't want to kill 'em off."

He Was a Clever Youth.

Mr. Sol Smith Russell undertook the other day to teach his son Bob a lesson in self denial.

"Look here, Bob," said he, whenever you get anything good you must give the best of it to your mother."

"I allus do," said Bob. Tother day I had two apples, one uv 'em was runty, 'nd tother wuz yaller 'nd big. I kept the runty one 'n give the big yaller one to mother."

"That was noble—that was manly—that was just what I should do!" said Mr. Russell, proudly patting his pampered darling's head.

"Now, that, my son, is what we can call an act of self abnegation, of denial, of sacrifice."

"Yes, sir," said Bob. "But mother don't eat apples."—Chicago News.

A Discussion.

A man while riding along a road in Kansas, hearing a terrific noise in a house near the roadside, stopped and thus addressed an old fellow who stood leaning against a tree.

"What means all that racket up yonder?"

"Oh, it's only a sort of family affair."

"A family affair," the traveler exclaimed.

"Yes. My sons Bill, Dick, Bob 'n Ned are windin' up the discussion they had this mornin'. They fall into them sort o' things, once in a while."

"Don't they hurt each other?"

"Wall, yes, sometimes. Bill had his arm broke sometime ago 'n Ned had one o' his ears chewed off last fall. Yes, it's sorter dangerous."

"Why do you let them fight?"

"Why did Jonah let the gourd vine wither?"

"Couldn't help himself."

"Wall, then, I kain't help myself. When they begin to fight me 'n my wife jest walk away 'n wait till they get through."

"Where is your wife?"

"Standin' under a tree, over on the other side of the road."

"Why don't you stay together?"

"Cause if we did we'd be in a fight in about ten minutes. Thar, the fights over. Won't you come up 'n take dinner with us?"

"No, thank you."

Better come. You'll find the boys nice 'n polite."

The report of a gun was heard. "Thar!" exclaimed the old man, "things have tuck a lively turn. Don't b'lieve I'm quite fur enough from this house. I must move further. So long."

New Mexico Inspection Law.

The meat inspection law recently adopted in New Mexico is a well devised statute and can hardly fail to effect the results for which it was created. It provides for the appointment of an inspector in each county by the board of commissioners, who shall be required to give a bond of $1,000. His compensation is fixed at one-half of the fees collected from the owners of such cattle as he may inspect; also a sum not to exceed $100, to be paid by the county; provided, that in no case shall the total compensation exceed $750 annually. No cattle can be slaughtered for human food and offered for sale without the inspector's certificate to the effect that they were sound and healthy at a date not exceeding thirty days prior to the time of slaughter. No meat shall be shipped or transported from one county to another unless a certificate or a copy thereof from the inspector is attached to such portions. The inspector shall receive a fee of fifty cents per head for the inspection of all stock inspected intended to be offered for sale, and will issue certificates only on payment of such fee. He has the power at any time to condemn meat that he shall judge to be tainted or unfit for food, and prohibit the sale of such meat. Any person who shall directly or indirectly, either on his or her account, or on the account of any other person, company or corporation, keep, store or offer for public use, or offer for sale for human food purposes, any dressed, uncured meat of any animal which has not been inspected alive in such county, and certificate therefor issued, as by this act provided, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and punished for each offense by imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding one year, or by fine not exceeding $500, and by both such fine and imprisonment.

Splendid Health.

I wish to proclaim to the world what S. S. S. has done for me. For the past ten years I have been troubled with dreadful eruptions on my face, caused by ivy poison. I was under the treatment of a number of physicians, but obtained no relief. I tried the best "blood purifiers" in the market, but without avail. I had given up in despair, thinking I could not be cured, but happening to read the Detroit Journal I noticed S. S. S. advertised and read Mrs. Bradley's testimonial. I thought I would try this remedy. I have taken eight bottles, and there is not a spot on my face. It has also cured me of chronic catarrh. I have never enjoyed better health than at present. I feel like a new person. I cannot find words to express my appreciation of its merits, and the gratitude I feel for the glad tidings that came to me through the reading of that advertisement. With you every success, I am yours truly,
JOSIE OWEN,
Montpelier, Ohio.

Swift's Specific cured me of malignant Blood Poison after I had been treated in vain with old so-called remedies of Mercury and Potash. S. S. S. not only cured the Blood Poison, but relieved the Rheumatism, which was caused by the poisonous minerals.

Geo. BOYELL, 2422 3d Avenue, N.Y.

Swift's Specific is entirely a vegetable remedy, and is the only medicine which permanently cures Scrofula, Blood Humors, Cancer and Contagious Blood Poison. Send for books on Blood and Skin Diseases, mailed free. THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO. Drawer 3, Atlanta, Ga.

THE CURE SERVANT.

Solved for You, but You May Puzzle Some One Else With It.

Among the best of the many antiseptic ingenuities is that of the dishonest servant. His master had bought 32 bottles of wine which he caused to be placed in the cellar by the servant in such a way as to count nine bottles on every side, counting on the line of the sides of the bin, thus:

1 7 1

But the servant managed, despite this precaution, to steal twelve bottles, that is four on three separate occasions, and yet when the master counted he found nine bottles on each side, according to his original plan of detecting fraud. Now, how did the ingenious thief rearrange the bottles so as to stand the test?

He rearranged them in the following way:

First visit. Second visit. Third visit.

2 5 2 3 3 3 4 1 4

5 5 3 3 3 1 1

2 5 2 3 3 3 4 1 4
